*Kajabi Specialist and Expert Assistant
Experienced traveller in the pursuit of endless
Summers*

Hi, I'm Kate, the woman on a mission to give more people more time out of office. As a dedicated world traveller & business owner, I've learned that working hard doesn't mean being tied to your desk or office.

After two decades of wearing many hats within fast paced industries such as tourism, events, conferencing and hospitality, I began my entrepreneurial journey.

In search of the elusive work-life balance, with the aim to support my love of helping others in business as well as my love for exploring the world - I developed my very own 'life by design', in the form of a digital nomadic life, serving businesses while following summer around the globe.

I'm currently based in my homeland, New Zealand (awaiting the borders to open again!) and serving business owners globally, assisting in the building and management of their Kajabi accounts, so they too can find some work-life balance, out of office.
